Unless, of course, you have the Cox remote, which you can program to multiple devices, including your TV. Your remote comes with many useful settings that allow it to control almost every brand of TV sold in the United States. Below follows what you need to do. Locate your TV's brand in the chart given below. This indicates that your setup is complete. But both methods failed to configure your remote to the TV. Do you give up Not yet! You still have options, so don't give up hope. It also has instruction manuals on each type of remote the provider offers. Look for the correct manufacturer codes in the manual that corresponds to your controller. This app is available for both iOS and Android devices. It can help you use your smartphone or tablet as a remote to control your Cox equipment, TV, and audio device. Keep holding it for 3 seconds and wait for the LED to change color. It should turn to green from red, indicating you have successfully reset your remote. Press and hold the "Setup" button. Wait for the LED to blink twice and then press the "Power" button. Aim your remote at the TV and press the button marked "Select". Hold it down until the TV turns off, which means the remote has successfully configured to your TV. The red LED blinks once for every TV or device configured. If the remote blinks red after a command to the TV it means the remote is in infrared mode. Unpair the device and then pair again to switch to radiofrequency function. Once the LED is green, press the "Contour" button. Instructions should appear on the screen, including a 3digit code that you need to enter. Your remote should pair successfully, allowing you to use voice commands. You may need to switch to a Contour 1 DVR, which comes with a universal remote that can pair with your TCL TV. First press and hold the "Mic" button. Clearly say "Voice Guidance Off". This will switch off voice controls. If you want to turn them back on, press the "Mic" button and say "Voice Guidance On".

Wait until the LED turns from red to green. Input the manufacturer code for your audio device. Press "OK" to finish configuring your remote to the TV. However, it will always be labeled clearly so you can easily find it. And that doesnt even begin to describe the mess. The worst part is scrambling to get the right remote in time to make the necessary changes so that you can enjoy a worthy entertainment experience. And guess what! If you have to scramble, it is not likely that your experience would be a very pleasant one. Especially, if you happen to be a loyal customer and own appliances from the same brand—because you will have most of your remote controls looking practically the same, making the task of getting your hands onto the right one at the right time, a bigger hassle than it needs to be. And, that's no way to live. But, watching movies and shows from the comfort of your couch should be this difficult. There has to be a better way. Luckily, with a Cox remote there is! The device is designed to make your experience seamless. Designed to perfection both remotes have some exciting features, which put the Cox devices amongst the top ones in the market. Both are, however, universal—which makes them compatible with a variety of devices. The Contour 2 remote allows you aimfree control, making it easier to use. While the buttons on Contour 1 remotes are convenient to follow and help you get things done quickly. Both remotes can make all essential changes required during any standard TV watching session. Control the TV input and power it off; increase or decrease the volume or mute it completely. If you have audio devices connected, you can mute them too, or adjust their volume and turn them off. And did we mention it offers automatic backlight. Because that is a total plus and shows you just how well designed it truly is. The only difficult part is programming it. But luckily, while it may sound technical, you do not need to be a rocket scientist to get it up and running.

Whether you are just kicking off your subscription with Cox Cable, or you have recently upgraded to Cox Contour 2, follow the instructions laid out below and you will be all set in no time! But, that is hardly the case. The process is simple and designed to be userfriendly so that anyone can do it. You don't necessarily need a professional's help. Just read through the instructions and try to follow them. You might make a mistake once or twice, but that is hardly a reason for you to get disheartened. You'll be able to figure out your mistakes, correct them, and connect all your devices in no time. Well, just read on! If you know the code for your device, the process is as follows: Hold down until the selected mode key TV blinks two times. After that, you can release the buttons. If it is the right code, the selected mode key should blink twice. The TV should turn off, and you will know that the process is complete. The correct code will save automatically. If you have the right code, it will hardly take you any time. However, it is finding the right code that can be troublesome. Worry not though, we have that covered too. The remote control will search the entire list of codes for your TV in the meantime. The correct code will save automatically. If you miss the code while pressing CH, worry not. Simply press CH once or twice till the TV turns on signaling that you have found the right code for your TV. Once that is done, the TV key should blink two times. The remote sends IR codes stored in its memory to the TV starting with the most popular one. The remote sends IR codes stored in its memory to the TV starting with the most popular one. And, follow the same steps as mentioned above. You'll find your 4-digit code in no time. Then all that remains for you to do is program the remote and you'll be able to control your devices with ease, and enjoy Cox TV in peace. For most common Cox remotes these should work perfectly well.

However, if you have a Cox minibox remote or a Cox Contour 2 remote, the programming process is a little different. As we said earlier, depending on which of the Cox cable TV packages you're subscribed to the remotes you get may vary. Your location also plays a role in this. Hold it till the TV turns off. If however, you hear one long blink, that means the process has failed and you need to repeat the steps. Currently, there are two voice remotes that Cox TV comes with: the XR15 and the XR11. You will notice the STATUS LED blinks green four times. The remote will take a few seconds to power up. If not, make sure the 3-digit code is put incorrectly. And wait until the blue STATUS LED blinks 3 times. The voice remote will take a few seconds to power up. You will find plenty of online help, and if needed you can always call Cox Customer Service for quick assistance. To help you troubleshoot, here is a list of common mistakes people tend to make. Most likely you too are making one of these so make sure to read on. If you have a Contour 2 remote or a minibox remote, the process is slightly different. If you follow the same instructions with these remotes you are sure to run into trouble so we suggest you first check exactly which remote do you own. For this, you can visit their website here, or just take a picture, and run it through Google Lens. You'll have your answer in no time. For example, for TV you must press the TV button. Oftentimes people press the wrong button. You might also want to see if the batteries are charged and if the remote is not damaged. If it is, you will have to call Cox Customer Service and ask for a new one. As you can see the process is quite simple and extremely rewarding. This hard work will pay back, so make sure you get it all set up and running as soon as you subscribe to a Cox package, your cable line gets connected and your Cox TV service is activated. Next enter 981. The LED light should blink twice.

If it does, that means your remote has been reset. The RRU401 can easily be programmed to work most all brands using the provided instructions. The RRU401 is a 4Device Universal remote and can be programmed for use with up to 4 devices using the TV, DVD, STB and AUX modes. The remote includes popular features for your TV like APPS if applicable, CC, Sleep, Menu and of course, all other buttons for normal operations. We buy them! Affiliates Recycle.
